Re: No. 07-4060, US v. Paulette Martin
8:04-cr-00235-RWT

Dear Ms. Martin:

The Court received correspondence from you on July 22, 2010 regarding the redacted transcript. Under federal court policy, deadlines are set for redacting social security numbers, financial account numbers, dates of birth, names of minor children, and certain home addresses when the transcript is initially filed. At the conclusion of the redaction period, the transcript is again filed and made available to the public. Typically, there is no data requiring redaction from transcripts, but the policy ensures that time is made available to review the transcript for this purpose before the transcript is made available as a public record.

Sincerely,

/s/ Patricia S. Connor
